FARM NEWS

BY JIM SMITH
Appomattox County Agent

You will note a change in the style of make-up for the farm news this week. We hope that this change will meet with your approval.

Some statistics have come into our office that we think will be of interest to the farmers here in Appomattox County. They deal with yields and acreages of the crops grown in Appomattox County last year. We might make some comparisons of the averages here in Appomattox County, and some goals we might like to shoot for in the coming years.

In most cases the limiting production factors appear to be lack of fertilizers and crop rotations. (Adverse weather conditions last year caused the averages to be lower than normal.)

In 1954, farmers in Appomattox County grew 7,300 acres of corn with an average yield of 22.4 bushels per acre. This is a yield of 163,500 bushels for the county. Valuing this corn at $1.50 per bushel, we have a total value of corn produced in the county in 1954 at $245,250.00.

Now, if we took the same acreage, 7,300 acres, and had a yield in Appomattox County of 50 bushels per acre, this would give us a yield of 365,000 bushels. Value this at $1.50 a bushel and we see we have an income from corn of $547,000, or a difference of $302,250. This would be an increase in income for the county.

Nitrogen may be the limiting factor in corn production. When considering amount of nitrogen in corn, we need a minimum of 80 pounds of actual nitrogen per acre, and we can even go as far as 200 pounds and be on the safe side as far as expenses in fertilizer are concerned. This, of course, is when we are using quality land, and good cultural practices.

We might reduce this fertilizer cost with the use of a legume cover crop that would be turned under. Turning a clover or alfalfa sod should give us about 25 pounds of nitrogen per acre. If we use 8 to 10 tons of good quality manure, we should expect to add some 20 to 25 pounds of actual nitrogen per acre in our soil. We therefore reduce the amount of nitrogen that needs to be purchased through the use of legume cover crops and manure.

1,340 Acres of Fire-Cured

In 1954, 1,340 acres of fire-cured tobacco were grown in the county, with an average yield of 1,040 pounds. The average price for all grades of tobacco sold in this section of Virginia in 1954 was $34.44 per hundred. Using these figures, in Appomattox County we have an income of $358.18 per acre. In fire-cured tobacco, we should have yields averaging around 1,700 pounds per acre. Using the same value of $34.44, we then could have an income from our fire-cured tobacco of $585.48 per acre. This is a difference of $227.30 per acre.

Now, let's look and see what this would mean to the county if we were to multiply our yield by the value of our tobacco last year, that is, multiplying the $358.18 by the 1340 acres that were grown. This would give the county an income of $489,961.20. If we could up our yield of tobacco to 1700 pounds per acre, it would increase the income to farmers in this county by $304,582.00. That's a lot of money. We ought to do some thinking and planning to see if we can't find ways whereby we might increase our yields, for example by using good varieties, proper fertilization analysis and application methods, and also having quality manure and red clover to turn under another year.

Flue-Cured Yield 1,280 Lbs.

The records show that in 1954 we had 217 acres of flue-cured tobacco with an average yield of 1280 pounds per acre, with a value of $669.57. This value is based on the average income of tobacco of this type at $52.31 for all grades sold in Virginia last year. Now, this yield can be increased a great deal. Many flue-cured growers in other parts of the state and especially in North Carolina and South Carolina grow as much as 2,000 pounds per acre. But let's say we can increase our yields to 1600 pounds and based on the same value, we would have an income per acre of $836.96, a difference there of $167.39. The gross receipts for flue-cured tobacco in Appomattox County last year were $145,296.69. By increasing our yields of tobacco, we could increase the gross income in Appomattox County from flue-cured tobacco by $36,223.63.

Burley in Appomattox

Figures on burley tobacco show that we had 24 acres planted in the county with an average yield of 1,120 pounds. In sun-cured tobacco there were 155 acres with an average yield of 840 pounds. We have no prices to compare what might be done with increased yields, but I am sure we would find them somewhat similar to flue- and fire-cured tobacco.

PARASITES IN POULTRY

Summer is a good time to check your poultry for possible infestation with lice and mites. You might do this by catching two or three birds, parting the feathers just under the vent and look closely for lice. Also check the roost pole, the roost supports and cracks and crevices around the costs to see if there are any mites present. If there are lice and mites, you should take steps to eliminate them. To treat birds for lice, paint the roost poles with nicotine sulfate (Blackleaf 40), or a 1% lindane solution 20 to 30 minutes before the birds go to roost.

Another good way to control lice is to dust each individual bird around the vent, under the wings, and on the head with sodium fluoride, or a 5 to 10% DDT or a 1% rotenone dust. Any of these treatments should be repeated 8 to 10 days later to kill lice that may have hatched since first dusting.

If you have mites in your poultry house, clean your house and equipment thoroughly, remove the old nesting materials and paint the roost poles, roost supports and the bottoms of the nests with carbolineum or red mite roost paint.

The new control for mites is to paint the roosts with a 1% malathion or thoroughly dust the floor and later with a 4% malathion dust, using about 1 pound of dust to each 50 square feet of floor space. At the same time, apply dust to the roosts and nests. The dust should not be applied directly to the birds or be allowed to get in the feed or water.

Many birds during the summer will be infested with worms. These can be eliminated rather easily. To control the roundworm, use a nicotine roundworm capsule or give them a flock treatment by thoroughly mixing one ounce of Blackleaf 40 and ½ pound of epsom salts with enough water to wet the mash for 100 hens. If this medicated mash is given, it should be fed in long troughs so that all the birds can get at the trough at the same time. Also, you will want to clean the buildings and, if possible, run your birds on different lots in order to eliminate the danger from worms.

Visiting homes, we find many times there are cockerals and roosters on the yard and no eggs are being sold to hatcheries. Males in your flock will eat 30 to 45¢ worth of feed per month. Also, fertile eggs will not keep as well as those that are unfertile. Fertile eggs held at 100 degrees for three days, or 90 degrees for five days will become inedible.

4-H PICNIC

4-H Club members and parents are invited to attend a county-wide picnic at Holliday Lake on Friday, July 8 at 3:30. Those attending will meet on the public side and will bring a picnic lunch.

INSECT AND DISEASE CLINIC

Thursday morning, July 14, from 9:30 to 12:00, S. B. Fenne, Plant Pathologist, and John Amos, Entomologist, from V. P. I., will be at the county agent's office to identify any insects, diseases or weeds that may be a problem on your farm. If you have a problem that you would like to get identified and control measures recommended, these experts will be here to serve you. This will be the only time during the year that we will have any authorities from the College here in the county to identify insects, diseases or weeds that may be a problem; so, if at all possible, it would be well to arrange to bring a specimen on that date. It will be necessary that you bring in a sample of the insect, perhaps in a small bottle, and a fresh sample of the weed or disease in order that it might be examined thoroughly.

Those of you who will be unable to bring specimens in on that morning may bring it by the office prior to that date and a letter will be written explaining what the disease is and how it may be controlled.

NEW VACCINE DEVELOPED

A new type vaccine that has proved effective against cows infected with leptospirosis has been developed at V. P. I. This is a disease of all animals, however, found chiefly among cattle and may often be mistaken for other diseases. In cattle, the losses are chiefly from abortion, lower milk production, sterility, loss of weight and even deaths.

The disease was first diagnosed in Virginia in 1952 and is now known to be present in most counties. It has also been found in every state. Diagnosis is made by blood test. A competent veterinarian should be called for examination of suspicious cases.

Leptospirosis affects all mammals and there have been frequent cases in humans. In humans it has sometimes been mistakenly diagnosed as undulant fever, infectuous Kapatitis and even as polio.

Further studies are underway to determine the duration of vaccine, the best age to vaccinate and storage qualities.

SEEDING SUDAN GRASS

Farmers who have not seeded sweet sudan grass as drought insurance this summer can still do it if they hurry. The deadline is fast approaching when it will be too late to seed sudan this year. Sudan will provide additional grazing for livestock during the critical pasture months of July and August because it grows best when permanent pastures are likely to be out of production. 1/3 to 1/2 acre will usually provide grazing for one animal during the pasture slump season. Sudan will be ready to graze in six to eight weeks after it is planted. It should not be grazed until it is 18 inches tall. Graze it down to about 6 to 8 inches and then let it come back to its original height. This way you can extend the period of grazing of this grass over several weeks. It should be planted at the rate of 20 to 35 pounds per acre. Use 400 to 600 pounds of 4-12-8 or 10-10-10.

Special Notice

It has come to my attention that some of the supporters of my opponent are circulating a statement that I was forced to sell my store because of improper conduct and defrauding the Western Auto Supply Co.

I wish to state that this is absolutely false. I sold my store voluntarily upon a proposition made to me by them in January, 1955. I set forth below a copy of a telegram just received from the Western Auto Supply Co.

Attention Dark Fired Virginia Growers

We have been requested by our main customer for Austrian cigar leaf grades to inform the grower of Dark Fired Virginia tobacco that during the coming season there will be a good demand for such grades. If the Dark Fired tobacco growers will make an effort to grow these cigar leaf grades up to the requirements of our customer, they will be paid prices above those of a year ago.

Our customer desires tobacco of brown to reddish brown color, with good spread, thin texture, running in length from 22 to 25 inches. This information is being given out at this time in order to enable the growers to know that a demand exists for this particular kind of tobacco, and to give them an opportunity to cultivate and top their tobacco, and to cure their tobacco as much as possible to the cigar leaf grades. The farmers are cautioned that when they strip their tobacco every effort should be made to keep it uniform in length and color. It will pay them well to do so, if their so-called Austrian leaf grades have the quality desired.

Vote For
J. A. BINGHAM
For Sheriff of Appomattox County

Mr. J. A. Bingham, who is a candidate for Sheriff of Appomattox County, served with the Virginia State Police Department for thirty-one years. This is a record of faithful and efficient service. Mr. Bingham has not only voted the Democratic Ticket all his life but was twenty-one years old, but has been a leading worker for the Democratic Party all of his life. His last twelve years of his service with Virginia State Police Department, he was assigned to special investigation work, working with Commonwealth Attorneys, Sheriffs and the F. B. I. This experience equipped him in a very special way for the office he is now seeking. If he is elected, we believe, he will enforce the law fearlessly and courageously, and yet, in a kind, generous and impartial manner.

I have the greatest respect for a career fire company. We have an and not one here in Appomattox, have just come across an inspiring history of what I consider most outstanding volunteer fire company was organized in May, 1950 with 14 members. There were funds to purchase equipment. The first $4.16 was acquired by "pass the hat" and this amount used in stationery. The fellows decided that as Pony Penning Day had been celebrated on the Island for years, the firemen would purchase ponies to be sold on this occasion. The firemen bought 80 of the animals, 60 mares and 6 stallions from the estate of one Joseph Beebe. This investment has paid off in a grand way, for the Pony Penning celebration is now one of the leading attractions in Virginia. The League had some disastrous fires in 1924 destroying most of the buildings on the west side of Main. The fellows went to work and got up a fine set-up of modern fire fighting equipment. In 1930, the present fire house was built at a cost of $32,000, and it was debt-free in 1935. I have been in the wonderful company building at Chincoteague with its tile public rest rooms and excellent equipment. It is necessary to join a long waiting list to get into the well-financed volunteers have paid their own dues to Pony Penning Day.

The national acreage which at average yields will produce the proclaimed 1956 marketing quota is estimated at 880,000 acres. The allotted acreage for flue-cured tobacco in 1955 is 1,007,120 acres.

Flue-cured tobacco allotments have been proclaimed each year since 1940. In that time growers have had their total tobacco acreage to about 99 per cent of the national acreage allotment.

Chairman Rush reminds Appomattox County flue-cured tobacco growers that the July 23 referendum will determine whether marketing quotas and acreage allotments will continue in effect. The growers have three choices: for quotas for the next 3 years, for quotas for 1956 only, or to discontinue quotas for 1956. If at least two-thirds of the growers voting approve quotas, price support at 90 per cent of parity will be available, to growers who comply with their farm acreage allotments. If more than one-third oppose, the program will not be in operation in 1956. If the vote is unfavorable for quotas for three years or for 1956 only, there will be another referendum next year.

Tobacco Quotas Referendum To Be July 23

Flue-cured tobacco growers have been mailed a notice regarding the 1956 allotments. According to County ASC Chairman C. S. Rush, this notice contains an over-all statement regarding allotments and indicates the 1956 allotments in terms of a percentage relationship to the 1955 allotments.

Except for certain variations among individual farms due to underplanting, the reduction in allotments for most farms will be about 12 per cent for 1956 as compared to 1955. Since 1948, the total flue-cured tobacco acreage increased from 883,800 acres to 1,111,300 acres in 1952 and decreased to 1,042,200 acres in 1954. Production increased from 1,089,584,000 pounds in 1948 to 1,314,407,000 pounds in 1954. Per acre yields averaged 1,233 pounds in 1948 and reached a peak of 1,309 pounds in 1951 and dropped back to 1,261 pounds in 1954.

J. Garland Plunkett, incumbent deputy Treasurer defeated Thomas Terrell Martin for the nominatin for Treasurer, in the county's closest race. The unofficial tabulation gave Plunkett a 200 vote margin in a spirited race. Plunkett piled up a lead at the Court House and the Old Court House precincts. Martin carried Cheatwood, Chap, Walkers Church, Agee, Oakville and Stonewall precints, his biggest margin being at Oakville.

There was a record 962 vote at the Court House precinct, and several hundred citizens gathered to wait until nearly 11 P. M. for the completion of the ballot count.

Supervisors Take No Action On Segregation

The July meeting of the county board of supervisors was held yesterday. The board took no action on a request from the supervisors of Dinwiddie County asking other boards to urge Gov. Stanley to call a special session of the General Assembly to act on the segregation problem. The Appomattox board took no action because it understood that the Governor plans to call such a session and will soon set a date.

The board requested that the State Highway Department take into the secondary system a short road leading off Route 460 in Appomattox from 460 near Thompson's restaurant.

Appomattox County had its fifth highway fatality for 1955 this week when a 48-year-old farmer, Clyde Jackson White, of Route 3, was killed instantly when struck by a car while walking along Route 460 just west of the town limits. The accident occurred slightly after 9:00 P. M. Tuesday. Driver of the car was Howard C. Phelps, 20, of Appomattox. According to officers who investigated, White was walking toward Phelps' car along the side of the highway when he was struck. Officers reported that Phelps was driving at the legal speed limit.

This was the fifth highway death of the year for Appomattox. Two of the five involved pedestrians, and the other three were in a non-collision wreck when a trio of young men died when their car left the road. The 1955 highway death toll for Appomattox County:

Jan. 15— Cecil Buck Stephens, Raymond Edward Jamerson and Calvin Phelps in wreck on Route 26. All of Route 2, Gladstone.

Jan. 29— Harvey Thompson, 67, in hit by car on Route 131, Appomattox. He died Feb. 13.

July 12— Clyde White, hit by car, Route 460, Appomattox; died instantly.

This will give Appomattox one of its worst years for highway deaths. There was only one highway fatality in 1953 and only one in 1954. The 1953 victim was Norman Leroy Ferguson, 13, Oct. 2, 1953, on intersection of Routes 460 and 24. The 1954 victim was Wyman Meginson, Route 2, Concord, 47, on Jan. 21, 3.3 miles north of Concord. Funeral services for White will be conducted from the Hollywood Baptist Church today at 4 P. M. by Dr. Carl A. Collins, Jr. Burial will be in the church cemetery. He was born in Culpeper, the son of John T. and Katie Bell Southall White. He was a member of the Hollywood Baptist Church.
